

From: Adam Warbington
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/16/01 8:36pm
Subject: Comment on Microsoft settlement

It is obvious to the informed members of the public that this decision is entirely based on the huge amounts of money Microsoft is willing to give to elected representatives. The settlement is vague and gives Microsoft exactly what they want, free and sactioned reign to shove their products down consumers' throats. Microsoft is not an example of a good business, it is an example of a good monopoly.

The government has done its citizens a great disservice by allowing Microsoft to continue its predatory business practices unchecked.

-Adam Warbington